Bennett, James T ...
... at United Way of America and at Covenant House after approval by both charity-rating services and their independent auditors. Clearly, something is amiss.

Financial Shenanigans

Both the rating services and the auditors use the same financial information in assessing a health charity's performance, but these data cannot be used to answer any of the four basic questions that we believe are essential to understanding whether a particular charity is good, bad, or indifferent. Health-charity financial statements, even though they conform to standard accounting practices, hide as much as they reveal.

Donors...Three really do, it is necessary to analyze the content of their programs, not the financial data related to these programs. Most service activities are conducted by the state and local units of health charities rather than the...it comes to protecting the public. Health charities are so numerous that the charity-rating services are overwhelmed by an impossible task. The data that the rating services analyze are the audited financial statements provided by the charities themselves.

Despite their good intentions, the watchdogs are no different from anyone else in that they cannot discern from...

... Among the provisions surviving in the legislation is one that would allow prospective employers to obtain credit reports only if the consumer authorizes it. Existing employers would have to notify employees in writing before obtaining a report.

Credit -reporting agencies would be required to settle disputes with consumers within 30 days and provide...

Abstract: Some department stores are working to make checkstands more consumer -friendly. Saks Fifth Avenue, for example, has installed a CRT screen which a sales associate can turn around toward the customer. Sales associates can now locate items in any store in the chain, provide instant credit on customer returns and capture customer names and addresses for promotions and mailings. Other functions include data collect , price lookup, scanning, store reporting, host communication, credit authorization , delivery information , ticketing and big ticket reservation. The screen shows display ads when not in use.
